08:30 AM - 04:00 PM EST
Ryan Messer,
Ryan.Messer@hdrinc.com
One Water, Setting the Stage for a Sustainable Future

Learn about the current technical and regulatory issues associated with potable and non-potable reuse; dive into water conservation measures and modern treatment techniques; and hear about broader beneficial reuse programs around the USA. Such information is valuable to utilities, consultants and the regulatory community as the need for sustainable water resources is an important water management strategy in Florida. This is an opportunity for engineers and consultants and practitioners to share experiences, technology and science associated with planning and implementing a resiliency, water supply, or reuse project.

Sponsorships are available.
